SOUTHFIELD
Housing & Neighborhood Reinvestment Initiatives

Mayor Kenson J. Siver
2015 to present
Issues Facing Southfield Neighborhoods

- Aging Housing Stock
- Aging Population
- Mortgage Crisis 2007-2010 – Bank Foreclosures
- Decline in Property Values following 2008-10 Recession
- Oakland County Property Tax Foreclosures
- Significant Increase in Rental Homes
- Increase in Group Homes
- “Second Wave” Homebuyers – Acquired home but lack funds to maintain
- Infrastructure Issues – Streets, Sewers, Septic Systems, Water Mains Aging Out
- Vacant School Buildings

In sum, these issues have caused a decline in property maintenance impacting neighborhood vitality.
To combat neighborhood decline, we have instituted programs to maintain Southfield housing stock and neighborhoods.

Goals of Support Programs for Southfield Neighborhoods

- Maintain attractive, safe neighborhoods
- Improve public infrastructure
- Increase property values
- Reduce or contain the number of rental homes
- Assist older residents with home/yard care so that they may remain in their homes longer ~ age in place.

• Improved Amenities & Services for Residents

  Social worker, activity directors, resident newsletters, security systems, food coop, two large vans purchased for resident transportation, health programs, libraries, lobby internet, etc.
Create Neighborhood Enterprise Zones
State law allows for the creation of Neighborhood Enterprise Zones. Taxes are reduced for major home improvements in NEZs.

Southfield has designated two areas of the city but has not put the program in operation as we are waiting on legislative action to raise the home value threshold for qualifying properties.

Southfield Neighborhood Revitalization Initiative
Tax foreclosed properties are captured for rehabilitation and sold to homeowners. Properties are completely renewed with modern furnishings and brought up to code. Turn Key condition. This program was initiated in 2016 to stem the rise of rental properties & combat slumlords. 130 properties are in the SNRI program.

Southfield Neighborhood Revitalization Initiative

How the SNRI works:

1. After the Oakland County Treasurer forecloses on a property, the property goes up for auction to recoup back taxes, fees, yard maintenance, water bills, etc. Highest bidder takes the property.

2. Fed up with flippers, real estate speculators, unscrupulous landlords, the SNRI was formed. Goals are to reduce or cap the number of rental homes, renew housing, remove blight, raise property values & increase homeownership. (Owner occupied homes make for stronger neighborhoods!)

3. Under Michigan law, local governments have “first right of refusal” on tax foreclosed properties. The Southfield City Council began exercising this right in 2016.

4. The City Council then transfers the properties to the SNRI for the back taxes, fees, water bills, etc.

5. The Southfield Non-Profit Housing Corporation finances the SNRI. (The city has no financial stake.)

6. The SNRI contracts with Habitat for Humanity of Oakland County to rehabilitate the homes.

7. Rehabilitated houses are placed on the market. Anyone may purchase and SNRI home if qualified for the funding. Purchaser must live in the home. It cannot become a rental.

Why the SNRI

In the height of the mortgage scandal & financial meltdown, Southfield led Oakland County in the number of bank/mortgage company foreclosures.

During the worst of the crisis Southfield had a rolling 1,600 vacant homes.

Many people bought homes in the city with faulty mortgages and soon found themselves underwater. In many cases, home repairs/maintenance were not done.

After foreclosing, banks & mortgage companies then began “dumping” properties at ridiculously low prices, causing a decline in property values.

Southfield properties were being scooped up by investment companies, home rental companies, flippers, land speculators, etc. The number of rental homes skyrocketed in the city.
Banks allowed some properties to sit vacant for years.

A huge spike in vacant home break-ins by scrappers stealing copper pipes, appliances, light fixtures, furnaces, hot water heaters, etc. took place.

In many instances investment companies, home rental companies, flippers, etc. did little or no maintenance to their properties before renting or selling.

Hundreds of homes were purchased very cheaply by people who could buy a Southfield house, but could not afford to maintain it, heat it or pay the property taxes and water bills.

The number of property tax foreclosures by the Oakland County Treasurer’s office spiked dramatically. Another round of buying up properties by investment companies, home rental companies, flippers, etc. ensued. In some cases homes were rented while the taxes went unpaid.
At this home, the landlord refused to repair collapsed sanitary sewer line. Instead, rigged up pump & dumped raw sewage in back yard until pipe froze & then left six inches of raw sewage in basement while home was occupied.

This home had been purchased for $10,000 from US Bank in 2011. In 2002, it had sold for $167,000. Landlord collected rent but did not pay property taxes. County foreclosed in 2016.

This grand home was valued at $350,000. Purchased in 2009 for only $74,000. The family immediately fell behind on their taxes & water bills by over $30,000 before it was foreclosed by Oakland County in 2017. No maintenance was done on the home & the landscaping was allowed to go to ruin.

The family which bought this home in 2009 called it their “dream home” but did not have the means to afford living in it. It became a neighborhood eyesore.
The owner of this house failed to pay over $9,000 in property taxes & water bills and was foreclosed in 2016. Water damage and mold permeated the house from a failed roof. The house was beyond repair. Cost for settling the taxes, water bills, fees, etc. & demolition came to $31,876. A total loss for the SNRI.

This home was purchased at the Oakland County Tax Foreclosed Property Auction in 2014 for $21,000. Previously, it had sold for $73,000. The purchaser in 2014 never paid property taxes & turned the property into an illegal marijuana grow operation. Foreclosed again in 2017. Beyond repair, now demolished.

The SNRI has demolished 18 blighted houses at a cost of over $800,000
This house was purchased in 2009 for $33,000. Pre-mortgage crisis it had previously sold for $130,000. The owner immediately fell behind in his taxes, owing $27,250 in taxes and $7,059 in water bills. No maintenance or landscaping was done to the property. Oakland County foreclosed in 2017. The owner then sued the city, Oakland County and the SNRI claiming an illegal taking of his property.

While his lawsuit wound its way through the legal system the owner lived in the house tax-free, water bill-free, rent-free in the conditions as shown above. Once he lost the case and the appeal, the SNRI finally took possession. The house is now been gutted and renovated.

Renovation Budget = $$123,000
This lovely home was purchased in 2011 for only $60,000. Same story. No maintenance. Failure to pay taxes and water bills. $14,453 in tax arrears.

SNRI renovation budget of $203,320. Sold for $230,000
The financial objective of the SNRI is to break even. On a number of properties the SNRI sustains a loss as the cost of back taxes and renovations exceed the selling price.

The Southfield Non-Profit Housing Corporation and the SNRI have no employees. The Board members are Southfield residents who serve without compensation.

Its non-construction operational costs are for accounting and legal services, closing costs, management fees for the operation of McDonnell Towers, River Park Place & Woodridge (affordable senior apartment complexes).
Within the Southfield School District there are currently seven closed & vacant schools.

The Southfield Non-Profit Housing Corporation is working to convert two of the closed schools into housing.

The Southfield Non-Profit Housing Corporation is proposing to convert John Grace School to affordable senior housing.

The original school would contain 23 one- and two-bedroom units. The new addition would contain 49 one-bedroom units. Work on financing this project is continuing.
Housing Program Action #12
Neighborhood Vacant School Conversions

The original school would contain 18 one- and two-bedroom units. Townhouses would be built on the playfield and have two or three-bedrooms. Each unit would have a two-car garage. This project will be market rate housing. Work on financing this project is continuing.

Both John Grace and McKinley schools are in neighborhoods. The purchase of the properties and the cost of demolition make it unfeasible to develop the land with single family homes.
Housing Program Action #13
Recognition for Well-Maintained Properties

For decades Southfield has rewarded homeowners for maintaining their properties. We hold an annual Community Pride celebration that honors and encourages attractive yards and neighborhoods. Besides businesses, schools, religious institutions, apartment & condo complexes, we recognize outstanding homes, well maintained (but not showy) homes and neighborhood entranceways.
The city, along with MSHDA, the Southfield Non-Profit Housing Corporation, Habitat for Humanity Oakland County and a number of other organizations and businesses, hosts an annual Housing Fair to assist homeowners in providing resources.
The City of Southfield’s Code Enforcement Department includes six code officers, five to seven blight abatement staff, 20 parking enforcement officers and a clerk.

The staff handles all appearance issues, septic tank inspection verifications and parking enforcement. Additionally, abatement staff mows lawns, clears litter, shovels snow when property owners fail to comply,
